Introduction

The IB works with universities in nearly 140 countries to promote broader recognition of the Diploma Programme for the 120,000 Diploma Programme graduates entering university each year.

Since 1983, the IB has been recognized by the Association of Indian Universities (AIU) as an entry qualification (equivalent to + 2 qualification of an Indian Board) to all universities in India. The IB is committed to supporting the large proportion of students who wish to remain in India for their undergraduate studies and to creating pathways to enable more students (including NRIs) to consider this option.

The aim of this booklet is to give you an overview of University recognition in India with statements and website links of universities in India with updated policies. This is a guide for all stakeholders to understand the recognition landscape in India. As higher education institutions in India respond to the growth of the IB, this booklet will be updated on a regular basis.

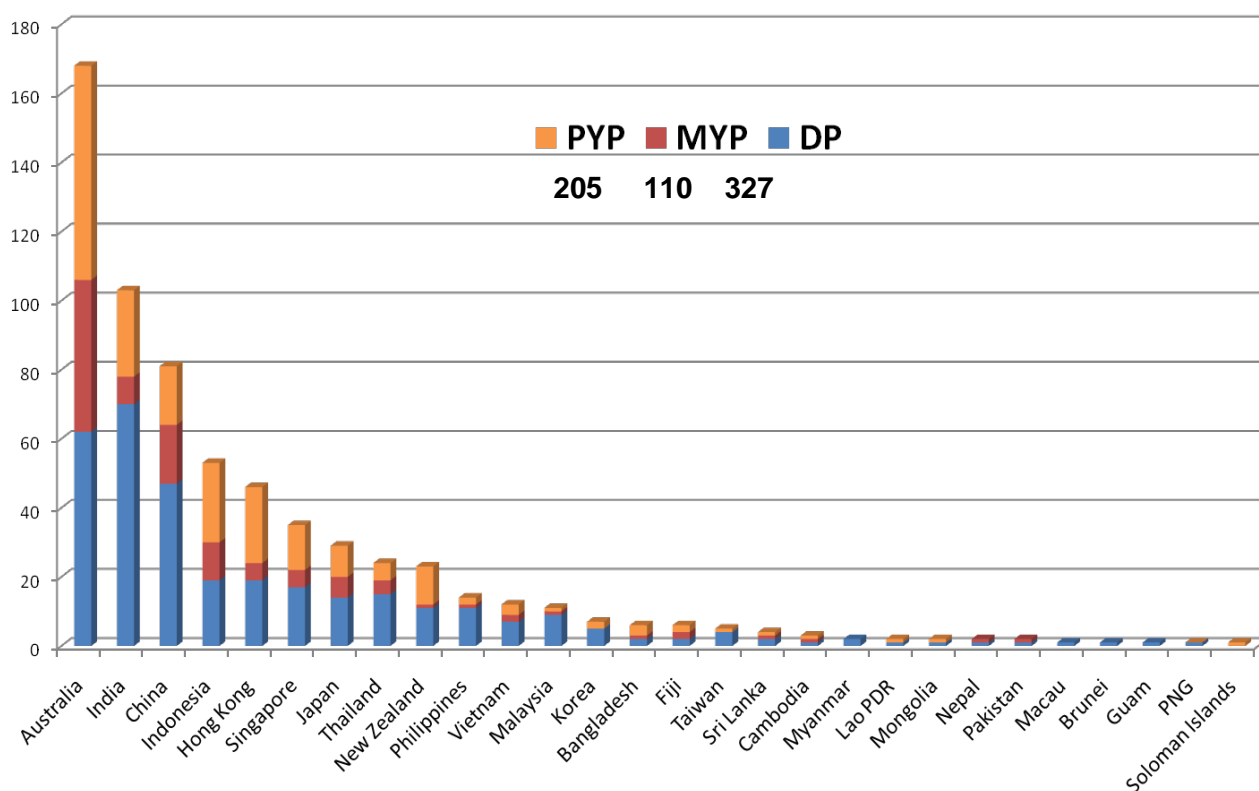

Global Programme Distribution

In the Asia Pacific region, there are 460 schools in 28 countries offering one of the three IB programmes: 327 schools offer the Diploma Programme (DP); 110 schools offer the Middle Years Programme (MYP), and 205 schools offer the Primary Years Programme (PYP). Distribution of the three programmes in the 28 countries in Asia Pacific is listed below (table 1).

There are 76 IB World Schools in India offering one or more of the three IB programmes. 25 schools offer the Primary Years Programme, 8 schools offer the Middle Years Programme and 70 schools offer the Diploma Programme. The first school was authorized in 1976.

Global Indian Students Enrolment 2010

Over 12,000 Indian students have completed the IB diploma in the past twenty years. The Diploma programme in India has grown substantially, particularly in the last 5 years when the number of students participating in the programme in India has grown over 20% each year, doubling in student enrolment since 2005. In 2011, over 1700 Indian passport holders enrolled for the IB diploma programme. The growth of Indian students is depicted below:

Overview of higher education in India

In India the central government is responsible for major policy relating to higher education in the country. It provides grants to University Grants Commission (UGC) and establishes central universities in the country. The Central Government is also responsible for declaration of Education Institutions as 'Deemed to be University' on the recommendation of the UGC. There are 39 Central Universities under the purview of the Ministry of Human Resource Development, 251 State universities and 130 Deemed to be universities. The Central and State universities have faculties, academic departments, affiliated colleges, post graduate centers, and other recognized institutes under them.

Entry to undergraduate courses is based on the performance in Class 12 examination and or Entrance test. Most of the professional institutes in India today prefer to conduct entrance exams for selecting candidates. The entrance tests are in the month of April/May or June. While some institutes participate in a common entrance exam, others may conduct their own individual entrance exams.

Engineering:

Technical education plays a vital role in human resource development of the country; there are 65 technical institutions in India, which include 15 Indian Institute of Technology (IIT's), 20 National Institute of Technology amongst others.

Entrance to Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) is conducted through the Joint Entrance Examination (JEE). Besides JEE, there are other engineering entrance exams as well. The All India Engineering Entrance Examination (AIEEE) caters to the needs of the 18 National Institutes of Technology, alongside some other prominent engineering colleges.

Medicine:

There are different competitive exams for medicine; one of them is All India Pre-Medical/Pre-Dental Entrance Examination (AIPMT) for entry into Medical/Dental Colleges of India.

Other professional courses: Law, Hotel Management, and Bachelor of Business Administration also have the entrance test.

Please note: This is not an all comprehensive list, instead an attempt to give an overview of higher education in India.

Accreditation

National Assessment and Accreditation Council, was established by the University Grants Commission to evaluate the quality of higher education in India. In addition to that, Professional councils are responsible for recognition of courses, promotion of professional institutions and providing grants to undergraduate programmes and various awards. There are 15 professional councils in India including All India Council of Technical Education (AICTE) which recognizes technical education in India and Medical Council of India (MCI) recognizes Medical education in India amongst others. Before enrolling for a professional course, students must check if the institute has the relevant accreditation.

Evaluation of Foreign Degrees

The Association of Indian Universities is a society which promotes university activities. The Evaluation division of AIU is responsible for the work relating to equivalence of degrees/certificates awarded by the accredited foreign universities/educational institutions. The Division also provides information to foreign students to facilitate their admission in Universities/other educational Institutions in the country.

Recognition of the IB Diploma Programme in India

Since 1983 International Baccalaureate Diploma has been recognized by the Association of Indian universities as an entry qualification to all universities in India. The IBO produces and issues for universities a document detailing percentage equivalency along with the transcript of results. To request this service, students must notify their Diploma Programme (DP) coordinator of their intention to gain entrance into an Indian university. The coordinator will then submit the request using the “Request for Results” service on IBIS (secured website for IB coordinators).

Students, particularly those applying for entrance to professional courses, can either apply to the AIU upon release of their results, specifying what professional courses they are applying for, or apply directly to the eligibility department of the university they wish to attend.

Admission to most university courses is based on the academic achievement in Class 12 or entrance test. Entry requirements vary from university to university and course to course. Prior to commencing the DP, students and parents must be familiar with the required subject combinations and levels for the student's future career path; this should ensure students' eligibility for particular professional courses. A student interested in studying an undergraduate course must make direct contact with the college or university he or she would like to attend to check specific course and entry requirements.

Enclosure (1)

No. EV/II(224)/83/

17 August 1983

K. C. Kaira
UNDER SECRETARY

Dear Mr. Blackburn,

Thank you for your letter of 10 August 1983
alongwith a copy of IBO Handbook.

I have seen the tearsheet from the IBO handbook and find it in order except that the names of the Universities (Ajmer Medical School, Delhi; Hyderabad; Karnatak; Mysore) may not be produced. As the decisions on equivalence are taken by the Equivalence Committee consisting of Vice-Chancellors, the executives heads of universities, we have not come across a case where AIU opinion although advisory is not accepted.

The IB Diploma is generally accepted by most of the universities, at par, with +2 stage qualifications as recommended by the AIU. The students who intend to join the universities in this country after completion of their IB qualifications may not find any difficulty for assessments of their academic attainments. They are welcome to seek our assistance in case of difficulty.

We had suggested to Mr. Robert Creighton that the students who intend to join universities in this country might be given a copy of the following resolution adopted by the AIU:

"Resolved that the International Baccalaureate Diploma Examination awarded by the International Baccalaureate Office, Geneva, Switzerland be recognised as equivalent to a pass in the +2 stage of the new pattern of education (10+2)."

With best wishes,

Mr. Robert Blackburn
Deputy Director-General

Yours sincerely

Indian Conversion Table required for Higher Education for students applying to Indian Universities

To whom it may concern

International Baccalaureate Diploma has been recognized by the Association of Indian universities as an entry qualification to all universities in India. The IBO produces and issues for universities a document detailing percentage equivalency along with the transcript of results. Upon declaration of results, the IBO gives the exact percentage for each subject on the transcript for the student. Given below is the range of IB grades to marks scheme

IB Grade to Marks Scheme

IB Grade	Indian Equivalent Marks
	From	To
7	96	100
6	83	95
5	70	82
4	56	69
3	41	55
2	21	40
1	1	20

This is the official conversation scheme, when giving predicted or provisional grades schools can use this for calculating the equivalent marks on a scale of 1 to 100 by giving the midpoint of the range indicated for a particular grade.

3.3.5. Provisional admission for IB Students

Relevant Extracts from the Minutes of the Equivalence Committee Meeting held on 21.6.2004

The Committee considered the issue of equivalence to convert grade point average of the diploma awarded by the International Baccalaureate Organisation, Geneva, Switzerland and percentage of marks awarded in the Senior School Certificate Examination of the Central Board of Secondary Education, New Delhi, for purpose of admission to different courses in the University. The Committee noted that the IB Diploma is already approved as being equivalent to 10+2 level school leaving certificate by the University of Delhi

The Committee also felt that in order to alleviate the hardship being faced by students seeking admission in 2004, the equivalence formula issued and certified the institution last attended by the student, may be accepted on a provisional basis for granting admission by all colleges. In such cases, the principle for calculating the equivalent marks on a scale of 1 to 100, the mid point of the range indicated for a particular grade awarded by the International Baccalaureate Organisation shall be taken as the equivalent marks. For example, where grade 6 has been shown to be equivalent to the range 89 to 95, the marks equivalent shall be taken as the midpoint which is 92.5. Similarly, for a grade of 5 where the range has been indicated as 83 to 88, the equivalent shall be 85.5.

3.4 Minimum Percentage of Marks

3.4.1 Arts / Commerce / Mathematical Science

Minimum requirements for the students who have passed the qualifying examinations and are seeking admission in regular colleges to courses covered in sections 2.1, 2.2 and 2.3 above are summarized below:

Such admissions should only be confirmed after the conversion formula issued by the respective Embassies/High Commissions is corroborated by the respective boards."

It was further informed that on the basis of the "Mean" definition its resultant percentage range 90-100 should be 95. If possible, the admission seeker may be asked to produce percentage conversion from the University as issued in other parts of South Asia.

Dear Ms. Taneja,

I am writing in response to your mail of December 7, 2010. We would be happy to consider the IB Diploma Examination to be equivalent to the 11 PUC/12th standard examination for the purpose of admission to our undergraduate programme. However, please note that this programme is at present open only to students holding Indian passports and they have to qualify for admission through a national examination such as KVPY, IIT-JEE, AIEEE and AIPMT. If a student is selected for admission and the results of the final examination are not available at the time of counseling (third week of June 2011), his/her admission will be provisional. When classes start in the first week of August 2011, the student will have to produce a marks card that confirms that he/she has studied Physics, Chemistry and Mathematics as main subjects and received a first class (60%) or equivalent grade in the final examination.

Please feel free to contact me if you need more information.

With best regards,

Sincerely,
